YALE CREW TITLES.
Squad Slightly Younger Than Formerly—Weight and Height Similar.

Yale's rowing authorities have just issued statistics comparing the variety crew candidates of the present year with those of the last four years. The present candidates are found to be slightly younger than those of former years, but to be of about the same weight and height. The average age of the men reporting as crew candidates were 20 years 5 months. In 1908 and 1909 it was 21 years, and last year it was 21 years 1 month. This year's records show the average to be 20 years 3 months, differing from the 1907 candidates by two months. The average weight of this year's men is 171 pounds, the same as last year's. The 1908 and 1909 crews averaged 172 and 174, respectively. This year's crew averages 173 pounds more than the one of 1907. All the squads compared averaged over 6 feet in height, with the exception of the 1907 crew, whose average was 5 feet 11 1-2 inches. The average this year is 6 feet, while in 1908 it was 6 feet 1-2 inch, and 6 feet 1 inch in 1909 and 1910.

YALE NEEDS A PITCHER.
Tommer's Hardly Shows Championship Class.

Though it is still early in the season, Yale fans are already discussing the chances of the baseball team, and the only trouble is that Yale has not a first-class pitcher. Tommer is the best that the nine can muster, unless some dark horse looms up from the three upper classes, which seems now to be unlikely. Tommer is a made ball player, and has been improving each year, but he does not seem to be of championship caliber, and there is some question as to whether he will be eligible on account of his studies this year. If he is not in the Yale team will receive a severe blow.

Coach William L. Lush has been engaged, and hopes to have a team which will defeat both Harvard and Princeton.
The team is, like the crew, fortunate in its captain, Pop Corey, son of William E. Corey, retired head of the steel trust. Corey plays right field. A very good man from last year's team is Joe Stevens, left fielder, and son of the famous Harry Stevens. Badger is left for centerfield and Merritt for third base. From the freshmen team of last year two good men will be Jim Kelly, the former Andover captain, and brother of Barney Kelly, and Bennett, who played second base. Kelly is expected to hold down short. For catcher Carhart will pass. The baseball men will be called out soon.

BALL PLAYERS ARE KEEN
AFTER THE MONEY.

How Altizer and Falkenberg Took a Slice from Washington on Their Sale.

"You can't get what you don't ask for," is a maxim of all ball players. It is a principle they all firmly believe in, and once the opportunity presents itself they make the most of their time. They think nothing of making the most unreasonable demands. Time and again the club owners are forced to toe the mark for fear that the players will walk and spoil their well laid plans, says an exchange. It was in midseason 1908 that the Naps were at a bad way. They were all shot to pieces, and the powers that were at that time decided that the injection of new blood might result in the other players getting their feet beneath them. There was an exchange of money for ten different players, but were met with an emphatic no from all the club owners.

Finally they tried to land Pitcher Falkenberg and Infielder Altizer of the Washington Nationals. Manager Culliton knew that he had the Naps' owners just about where he wanted them, and squeezed them to the tune of $10,000. But the Washington club did not get the entire $10,000 from Cleveland. Falkenberg and Altizer got their heads together and figured that if they were such valuable assets they were entitled to a piece of the purchase money. They agreed to demand $750 from the Washington club or refuse to go to Cleveland. Tom Noyes had visions of that bunch of money slipping from his palm, and readily agreed over a "Please pay to bearer $750 to both Palky and Altizer." The first real thing these players did following their arrival in Cleveland was to call at the Naps' office and tender their resignation. Each was paid $750, while the balance, $8,500, was sent to the Washington club.

This same Altizer tried the same stunt on the Cleveland club when he was released to Chicago prior to the opening of the 1909 campaign. Cleveland asked for writers on Dave Deane, and Charley Coniskey refused to waive. He was turned over to Commy at the waiver price of $1,500. Altizer was in the fair way when he learned of the deal. Of course he was not cognizant of the circumstances, and probably figured he was still a Naps' man. He was paid $10,000, and wrote to the Naps' owners that he would not report to Chicago unless he received $1,000 of the purchase price.

to Chicago unless he received $1,000 of the purchase price.
Inasmuch as Cleveland had received only $1,500 from Chicago, it would have been a mighty poor deal for them to have paid $5,000 for Dave originally, then sell him for $1,500 and give two-thirds of the sale price to the player. Altizer received a reply to the effect that inasmuch as the Chicago club had already paid Cleveland the waiver price, they didn't care whether he reported to the White Sox or not. Did Dave report? Surest thing you know, they always do.

Le Quon Jung, more familiarly known as Charley Boston, or Boston Charlie, was arrested in New York by federal agents, charged with smuggling opium into this country. His captors say he is the brains and ring leader of a range of opium smugglers and he has been badly wanted since two opium dispensaries here were raided last Wednesday. Charles is said to control one of these and a bunch of letters signed indicated how he reined the confidence of police officials in other cities.

WONDERFUL STORY OF AN OLD SOLDIER ABOUT A GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY.

Having suffered so much for years with inflammation of the kidneys, bladder and enlargement of prostate gland, also with an injury of canal caused by roughness of doctors in forcing sound catheters, etc., into the bladder, after hours of retention of urine, I now feel well as I ever expect to be and truly thankful. It was through seeing your advertisement of Swamp-Root in a Boston paper that I at last found something reliable which in the future will prevent the using of instruments so often and relieve much suffering.

Having a doctor in the family, I relied somewhat on his treatment in the past, but in my last serious illness, medicine didn't have its usual effect, and when my acute kidney trouble caused droopy and my face to swell badly, I knew something had to be done to prevent it rapidly extending over my whole body, as it often does in such severe cases, especially Bright's Disease. I then ordered a large bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which soon reduced most of the distressing pains and the swelling also. Before its use there was over one inch of sediment in a quart of urine. Now it is clearer than it has been for years. I feel sure that if I continue taking your medicine I will be nearly or completely out of danger. Many who knew my condition before commencing Swamp-Root think my present cure something wonderful. I have only just commenced on the second bottle. I will always feel safe with a $1.00 bottle of your wonderful remedy in my house. Under the above circumstances feel it a duty I owe Dr. Kilmer & Company to write this testimonial to show the public what Swamp-Root has done for me. I am Charles E. Abbott, 1871.

Yours sincerely,
MOSES ABBOTT WOOD.

Westminster, Mass.

Personally appeared before me this 31st day of July, 1908, Moses Abbott Wood, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

The Sirolin Sentinel

Sirolin (Pronounced Sir-o-lin): The celebrated Swiss remedy for coughs and colds.

NORWICH, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1911.

Don't Let That Cough Become Chronic!

Sirolin Prevents Consumption by Curing Coughs and Colds.

Tell Your Druggist
that you want Sirolin; that nothing "just as good" will do.

Sirolin is entirely different from any other preparation for colds and other pulmonary affections.

It acts in a different way. By its action the cold is resisted by increasing the resisting power of the lungs and air-passages. It is essentially a builder-up, a tonic, a restorative.

It effectively prevents colds by the same process. Keep a bottle of Sirolin in your house and take it as a preventive during the winter and, especially during cold and rainy spells.

You will find that you have missed your regular winter cold; that you feel well all the time.

Always Keep A Bottle of Sirolin
In the House.

Sirolin is the leading remedy for coughs and colds for both adults and children. It is recommended by physicians and in every medical center.

It is wonderfully useful in treating influenza. It is a cure for wasting diseases. It is universally popular. Its value is unique.

How to Cure a Cold
The inner surface of your lungs is a delicate mucous membrane, thinner than the finest tissue paper. Behind these fragile walls the blood circulates and meets the air as it is inhaled. A deep-seated cold, well down in the lungs, affects this delicate lung surface. Such a cold almost invariably leaves the lungs in a weakened condition, and this, combined with a lowered general vitality, turns them into a favorable setting ground for the tubercle bacillus—in plain English, the Consumption germ.

This, in a few words, is the history of the beginning of Consumption in nine-tenths of the half-million or more cases in the United States. That's why you should never let an ordinary cold run unchecked.

If your druggist has not got Sirolin, send $1.00 for a full-size bottle. Send for our interesting Sirolin Booklet.

Sirolin contains no
morphine, codeine, habit-forming or constipating drug

Sirolin is not only the world's standard remedy for colds, coughs, influenza, bronchitis, grippe, and other pulmonary affections, but it is also a tonic, a restorative, and a preventive during the winter and, especially during cold and rainy spells.

It stimulates the appetite, improves the digestion, aids the assimilation of food, nourishes the tissues, and is potent in retarding that waste of tissues and that poverty of blood which are among the most prominent features of consumption.

Acts as a Tonic
It never fails of excellent tonic effect upon the lining and adjacent tissues of the air passages, and also upon the entire worn-out system.

Your Physician
Knows Sirolin
Sirolin is very agreeable to the palate. It is a preparation possessing all the virtues of quinine and iron, but without the disagreeable taste of these most valuable drugs. Sirolin is compounded with a palatable, non-irritating derivative of quinine, the active principle of castoreum. Sirolin is not only palatable, but it also improves the appetite, assists digestion and aids nutrition. Sirolin is a physician's remedy—a potent nostrum. It comes to America with the highest European reputation.
